HOME PARADISE TO ADAM

By Home Buying the Consumer Helps Not Only His Town, but Helps Himself—Every Man With a Heart Loves Home and Town—Some Should Be Conscience Stricken.

(Copyrighted, 1914, by Thomas J. Sullivan.) Only the home can found a state. It is the seminary of all other institutions. There is magic in that little word home. It is a mystic circle that surrounds comforts and virtues never known beyond its hallowed limits.

We need not power or splendor, Wide hall or lordly dome.
The good, the true, the tender—These form the wealth of home.

Destroying Your Paradise.
The retail mail order houses are trying to destroy your home and your paradise by inducing you to buy your necessaries from them instead of your local merchants, to the injury of your home industries, home market and home town.

There is so much difference in buying goods of a home place of business and ordering them by mail from a catalogue house from a mere picture or description that I want to point out a few facts that many may never have thought of.

May Examine and Select.
At the home store you make your wants known; the salesman shows you the desired article, helps select or suggest the article best suited to your needs.

Thus you have an opportunity to examine the quality—to see the style, to select the size and color, as the case may be; you can compare the different grades, and then if everything is satisfactory and in your judgment the price is right you will make the purchase.

Will Exchange or Refund.
When you get home and upon a rigid examination you find a flaw or mar on your purchase, or the article may be too large or too small, or a black instead of a blue, then the next day or the week after you go to your dealer and explain, and he will gladly exchange the item or refund the money.

Acquiring a Husband.
"There is too much smiling and op-ling going on among the young people in the street cars nowadays," says Mrs. Freda Kuppel, the shortgrass widow. Mrs. Kuppel didn't even take the advantage of a face to face flirtation. She wrote her name on an egg she was about to take to town and the name was seen by a bartender in the act of making a gin fizz. The bartender finally became her first husband by telling her he was an actor.—

As Soon as a Man is Right.
I look on those sentiments which make the glory of the human being, love, humility, faith, as being also the intimacy of divinity in the atoms; and that as soon as the man is right, assurances and provisions emanate from the interior of his body and his mind; as, when flowers reach their ripeness, incense exhales from them, and as a beautiful atmosphere is generated from the planet by the averaged emanations from all its rocks and solis—

A CONVICT ROAD Builder's Plea American Highway Association.

Ten years ago, when convict road building had been tried but a short time, a number of engineers made inquiries of some of the convicts how they liked the work. The replies were all so favorable and prisoners who had been employed on roads were so desires of further service of that kind that one of the engineers wrote the following poetical version of one of the convict's plea to be sent to a road camp:

Oh, take me back to the convict
camp,
Put me to work on the grade;
I like the scent of the canvas tent And the bunk the Sergeant made.
Just take me out of this pesky jail To the camp and God's fresh air, Away from the shack where the small grayback

Skiddos through my uncut hair.
Oh, take me back to the dining tent To feed with the bunch again, Where every man gets a well filled pan

And eats till he gets a pain, Just give me a suit of Kentucky jeans
The same as you did before, And I'll serve my time without a whine

And chip in a few months more.
Oh take me back to the village of tents
I'm sick of this prison cell I'm an old hobo and I think I know When I strike a good hotel.

Please send me back today if you can,
Just forget about your fee, I've been there once and served six months
And the road man's jail suits me.

Submarine Has Not Turned The Trick.

Frank Simonds, the great war expert, has written an article for Farm and Fireside in which he says:

"Half the advantage of superior German preparedness was swept away when the British fleet made it possible to transform America into the factory and granary of the Allies.
It will be the verdict of history that the defeat of Germany was made in the United States, at least the Germans already attribute to American help the protraction of the war. This is the contribution of sea power.

"Against sea power Germany had devised the submarine, or rather she had relied on the submarine. In her plans it played the part of the old privateer. It was a commerce destroyer, and what it undertook to do was to prey upon commerce, upon the commerce on which depended the very life of Great Britain, since without imports she would starve to death.
Yet despite all the sensational successes of the submarine, it has failed in its purpose. It has not isolated Britain, it has not produced starvation, it has not even interrupted the flow of munitions or of supplies for the allied armies. It has sunk many merchantmen, but it will not be the deciding factor in the war."

First In His Town To Enlist.

Rutland, Mass., Oct. 22.—Herbert F. Watson, who was lost on the transport Antilles, was the first Rutland boy to enlist after war was declared on Germany, having joined the navy April 8. His mother, Mrs. Wallace L. Segar, was prostrated by the news brought to her. Young Watson was 23 years of age. He was born in Norwich, Conn., and educated in the public schools of Worcester. He had been employed in the office of a large Worcester concern and learned radio operating during his spare time.

The November Woman's Home Companion.

The November Woman's Home Companion has stories and articles this month which are up to the general standard of excellence. Alice Brown, the famous New England authoress, contributes "An Old Debt," Mary Wilkins Freeman has "Thanksgiving Crossroads," "Are You Eating Sea Food?" is an amazing article about new kinds of fish in the sea which can be eaten; Albert W. Atwood writes on "Your Money in War Time;" "Voluntary Rationing" tells us what England is doing about food, and May Stanley writes of Galli-Curci, the new opera star.

"Soldiers all," "Treasure and Trinket Fund," "The Tower Room," "Better Babies" and all the other departments are filled with interesting and helpful things. The fashions, picture section, cooking hints, and many other helpful suggestions makes this issue an excellent one.

English Women Baking Their Own Bread Now.

In an article called "Voluntary Rationing" in the November Home Companion, a writer says:

"Bakers are forbidden to deliver bread before it is twelve hours old.
This, in itself, has helped the saving of wheat very materially, as people do not fancy stale bread. And the housewife, in her own home baking, has learned this valuable lesson also.
For many years here baker's bread has been so good and so cheap that it has formed a large part of the daily menu. But government regulation baker's bread is for the most part so unpalatable that women have become home bakers. They mix the standard flour with other meals, and produce a bread that is far more palatable, at less expense, and still comes within the rations. The supply of flour being so limited, pastries and cakes have become rarities in stores and restaurants, and luxuries in homes."

Americans In Trenches.

Dr. Elden Stone, of the medical reserve corps, now "somewhere in France," in writing to his parents says some of our boys are now in the trenches at a point at where present there is little if any fighting. However, they are on the first line of trenches and ready for the fight when the opportunity presents itself. They seem very anxious to get into the midst of the fighting. Dr. Stone says he has visited the front and found the soldiers all well cared for, with plenty of good food and warm clothing. He speaks in the highest terms of the British officers and the courteous manner in which they have treated the Americans. At his own camp he says they are well fed with four excellent meals each day. He recently visited the Somme battle front and says the destruction is simply awful.
Cities of 30,000 to 50,000 are completely razed and not a building left.

DOGWOOD NOTES.

The farmers have been very busy making sorghum, molasses and sowing wheat.

Mr. M. D. Hord is right sick at this writing.

The protracted meeting at the Baptist church closed Thursday night.
The services were conducted by the pastor, Rev. T. T. Powell and Rev.
Racliffe.

Rev. T. T. Powell was taken suddenly ill Thursday night at the home of Mr. Charlie White but is better now.

Mrs. Flora West spent last Sunday night with her father's family.

Mrs. Rose Sneed is very sick at this writing.

Misses Sybil Spurlin and Lula Pike spent last Saturday night with Joe Fruit and family. W. X. Y. Z.
